ACCESS AND CORRECTION OF PERSONAL INFORMATION.

Under the Commonwealth Privacy Act, an individual has the right to gain access to any personal information which the school holds about them, and to advise the school of any perceived inaccuracy. Pupils will generally be able to access and update their personal information through their parents, but older pupils may seek access and correction themselves.

There are some exceptions to these rights set out in the applicable legislation.

To make a request to access or update any personal information the school holds about you or your child, you are asked to contact the school Principal in writing. The school may require you to verify your identity and specify what information you require. As mentioned above, parents may seek access to personal information held by the school about them or their child by contacting the Principal. However, there will be occasions when the access is denied. Such occasions would include where release of the information would have an unreasonable impact on the privacy of others, or where the release may result in a breach of the school's duty of care to the pupil.

The school may, at its discretion, on the request of a pupil, grant that pupil access to information held by the school about them, or allow a pupil to give or withhold consent to the use of their personal information, independently of their parents. This would normally be done only when the maturity of the pupil and/or the pupil's personal circumstances so warranted.
